

Photographer

Creative photographers capture on film what stimulates the eye and propensity to buy. Here life is brought into still life, fashion is presented in a fascinating way and food is served as an optical delicacy. Photographers are capable of digital as well as classical photographing. Advanced computer technology provides an integrated digital work flow from fashion files in electronic formats to photo shooting and image processing up to transfer into the production process. Basically, bits and bites however only support what in today's and tomorrow's world is the core of outstanding photography of catalogues and magazines: human creativity.
