

New Prinovis homepage goes live May 7th

The new Prinovis website will launch on Thursday, 7 May 2009. Its entire structure, layout, visual appearance and texts were redesigned with the active support of mbs Nuremberg. The easy to use, clear modern visual language and text present Prinovis as a print and media services provider with the highest level of expertise, quality and innovation.

Information on the company and our services may be found at the usual address www.prinovis.com. Not only traditional print production but also our successful activities as photo studios, advertising agency, mobile solutions and innovations are specified. On the new career sites you will find information on career opportunities as well as job listings (vacancies). An additional focus of the new website was to give the environment its own section in order to provide information about the Prinovis environmental policy and philosophy.

At the download section you will find further detailed information about Prinovis, such as technical guidelines, our General Terms and Conditions, Prinovis figures, image brochure and environmental reports.

The new website is available in German and English. A French version will go live in the next few weeks.
